Collagen

Dietary supplements

Did you know that collagen makes up over 30% of all proteins in your body? In different places, there are different types of collagen peptides. Type one is most of all the building material of skin, bones, tendons and ligaments. Type three can be found in skin and blood vessels.

Our Collagen combines both types of peptides, and it is a protein with enhanced solubility! It is gluten-free, lactose-free, paleo- and keto-friendly, and, of course, not genetically modified.

The formula of our product is based on a patented mixture of trace minerals and electrolytes, and each serving provides as many as 17 grammes of collagen peptides. iendly, and, of course, not genetically modified.

The form of a taste- and odour-less powder allows the product to be easily used as an additive to coffee, tea, juices or healthy smoothies.

Our Collagen also has an excellent amino acid profile. Among others, it contains glycine, proline and hydroxyproline, which are necessary for the synthesis of collagen.
